

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

I think that this idea is not bad but if we want to argue about having a phone conversation a starter for terroism, then we might as well ban cell phones in every public place because it will allow the terriosts help communicate with taking over anything. I propose instead of allowing cell phones if we are thinking for safety purposes lets put phones back into planes that are only able to contact emergency personel with the airlines or local authorities. That would really be more of a logical answer. It would also help maintain order in a small tight place. It already bothers me when you get into a small elevator and everyone and their mother is on the phone, that would be the case with using them on the airplane, small places and big mouths just dont fit.

Sincerely,
